

Resolution Intelligence:

Accelerate your business with resilient, scalable operations

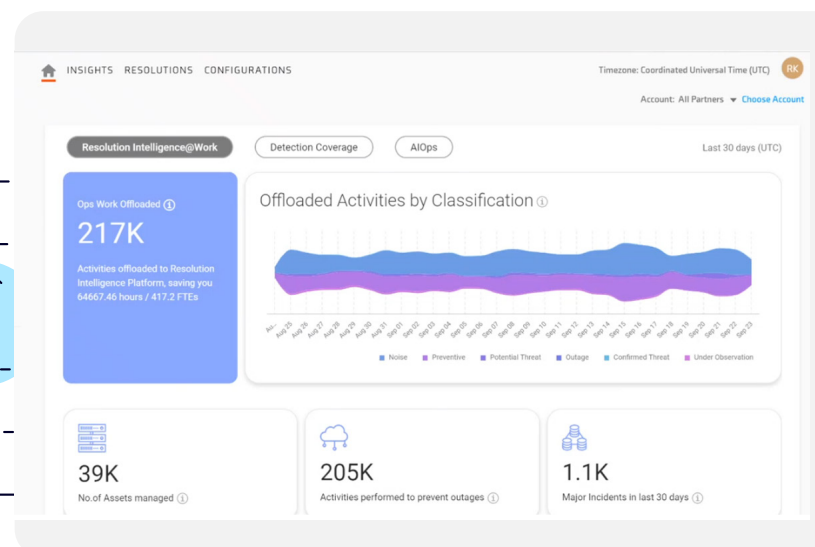

Monitoring is important. Detection is important.

Resolution is critical. You've invested in monitoring and detection to tell you when something goes wrong. Your IT and security teams are flooded with notifications and alerts, so it's challenging to know what you need to do and when. Neterich Resolution Intelligence bridges the costly gap between detection, response, and your ultimate goal: resolution. With Neterich, operational and security issues are resolved before they disrupt your business.

Our approach brings IT, security, and cloud operations together in one powerful SaaS platform to drive operational intelligence across your infrastructure, applications, and digital experience. We deliver the outcomes you need — greater agility, stronger security, higher skills retention – and keep IT aligned as the business scales.

Warp-speed resolution

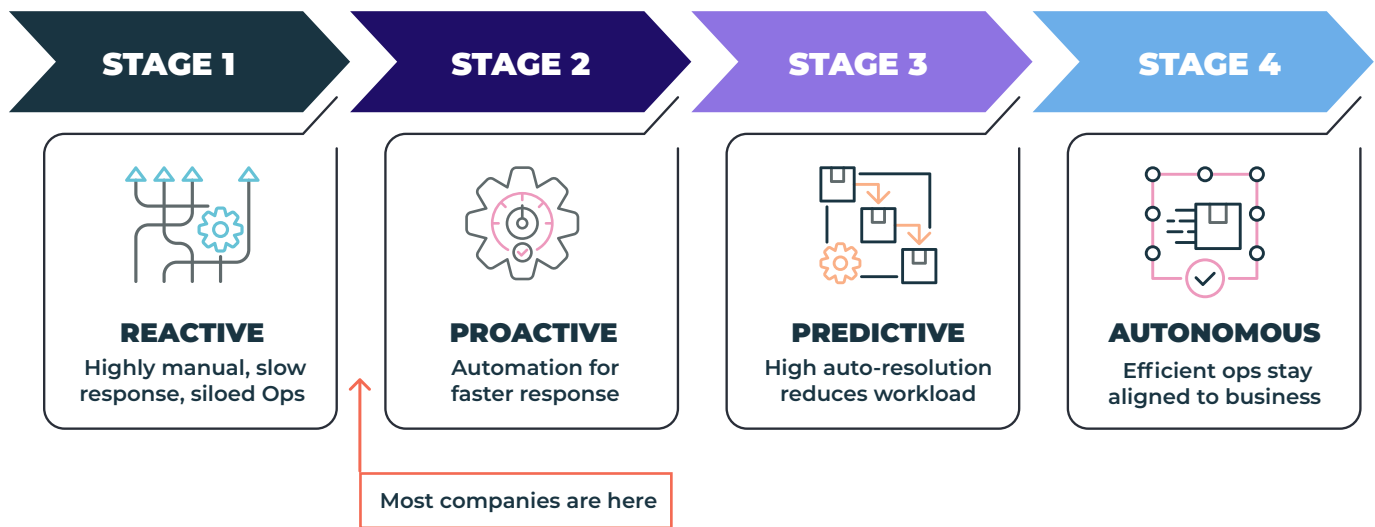

Netenrich Resolution Intelligence combines AIOps with more than a decade of network and security operations center (NOC and SOC) innovation to drive smarter, faster resolution and analytics that help transform your business operations. Our solutions integrate with your existing security tools and infrastructure and help you pivot to resilient, predictive ops faster with less risk and less effort. Our AI engine continuously evolves using current and historical data points across our installed base to automate noise reduction and resolution. Netenrich Resolution Intelligence:

- Reduces noise, cost, complexity, and workload
- Delivers real-time and “over time” analytics
- Automates integration and management to maximize tool value
- Consolidates and correlates data to deliver actionable insights
- Contextualizes and prioritizes “act-ons” for rapid remediation

Modern digital ops transformation

Risk-driven security posture

Netenrich aligns intelligent security operations (SecOps) with risk to improve your business resilience and optimize the resources you already have. Resolution Intelligence for cybersecurity promotes full cyber situational awareness (CSA) that equips defenders to predict Time to Compromise (TTC) and act to disrupt attacks on your high-value assets first.

We combine internal and external risk management with threat modeling and intelligence, adversary emulation, attack surface management (ASM), managed detection and response (MDR), and analytics to improve your security posture over time.

Why Neterich?

Neterich brings Fortune 100 digital operations innovation, depth, and efficiencies to any size organization. Our platform and solutions help more than 3,000 enterprise customers and managed service providers (MSPs) worldwide up-level their digital operations to achieve unprecedented efficiencies and economies of scale by reducing noise and resolving critical issues faster.
